Developing Dynamic Teams, Boards and Committees

A Professional Development Workshop for Associate Directors

September 23-25, 2011

Cenacle Retreat Center
Chicago, IL

North American Conference of Associates and Religious

Program Overview

When we hear the phrase “dynamic duo”, super heroes smartly clad in masks and tights might very well come to mind. But how do we translate that creative energy into teams, boards and committees within our Associate-Religious relationships, when at times it seems to take super human strength to reach simple consensus?

This workshop will focus on some of the dynamics and provide context for understanding human behavior. Once grounded in this understanding we will begin to explore practical ways to develop effective teams, engage boards, and enliven committees.

Throughout the weekend Tim and Marci will incorporate ideas from Team Theory, New Knowledge Creation, power dynamics and the dialogic process. They will also share learning gained from the Enneagram, Meyer-Briggs assessment and compassionate communication that will enhance your boards, committees and teams to become both effective and enjoyable.
